

Industry-leading P3 print management software gets a customer-led makeover

DECEMBER 19, 2017 BOSTON, MA P3 Software's print management system was designed to take the complexity out of sourcing, bidding and tracking print jobs. Now the minds at P3 are fresh off their latest efficiency-enhancing task: streamlining P3 itself. To create a more useful and user-friendly experience, P3 solicited user feedback and responded with software modifications, updates and useful new tools to make navigating the complex world of print even easier for your operations.

Introducing new features added to our industry-leading application:

- NEW look and feel to enhance the user experience
- NEW forms creatively designed and customizable with your logo and color palette
- NEW document review feature, optimized for ease of use
- Additional system and project management controls

New tools include:

- Tax Manager allowing users to add and itemize multiple national, state and provincial taxes
- Paper Manager to catalog, price and source stock right from the P3 interface
- P3 Connect, a critical new feature that takes online job starts from clients and feeds them directly into P3 learn more >

Introducing P3Connect, bringing the power of P3 to a customer-facing portal

Receiving and processing job starts online provides tremendous advantages. The speed and efficiency for both clients and print managers is enormous, avoiding endless email chains and various file transfer systems that get in the way of providing immediate customer service.

To meet this need, P3 introduces P3Connect, a powerful tool providing P3 system users with a high-utility client-facing portal for RFQs (Request For Quote) and job orders, feeding directly into the P3 system. It features form templates branded with your logo and style offered through your website. P3Connect provides a simple, seamless experience and places job requests directly into operations and sales rather than routing through unnecessary channels. On the back-end P3 system users can send out bids, review pricing and markup the job to generate professional-looking, branded proposals.

We're excited about the latest improvements to P3, and the enhancements to our core software are available at no extra charge. For those with more specialized or robust needs, P3's upgraded suite of products like P3Connect will help print managers offer a more comprehensive suite of services to their clients while taking advantage of the efficiency of the P3 system.

To see why leading companies in the financial, education, government and retail industries as well as print production professionals everywhere rely on P3, call a product expert at 508.315.8000 for a quick discussion or demonstration of how P3 can work for you.

Customers can now enter RFQ's directly into the P3 system, saving you time and effort
